Resource Spotlight: New ORCID website coming soon

We are rolling out an “ORCID@PNNL” website, (library.pnl.gov/ORCID) which will be linked from the Technical Library home page. This is still very much “under construction” but check back soon (& often) to see more information and links about ORCID and ORCID@PNNL.

Service Spotlight: Librarians registering staff for ORCIDs April 11-14!

The big news, of course, is that for National Library Week (April 11-15), the Technical Library will be available in PNNL buildings to register new ORCIDs. Stop by any of these locations and get your ORCID in less than a minute. In the coming weeks, we will be scheduling brown bag sessions and/or Lync meetings to help all ORCID-holders complete their profile, upload their publications and grant information, and fill in the Bio, Employment and Education sections. The more complete your ORCID profile is, the more useful it is to people who are looking for you and your work.

ORCID@PNNL: What now?

It takes about 30 seconds to register for an ORCID

You can stop here, and you'll have an ORCID to use on manuscripts, proposals and association renewals. But to really tap into the benefits that an ORCID can provide, you'll need to complete your profile—this is a lot easier & quicker than you might think! You can copy and paste work history, education, etc. from CVs etc., and you can upload your publications list from Web of Science, Scopus or EndNote. If you have any questions on this, please email orcid@pnnl.gov, and we can help. For a great posting about the reasons, advantages, and benefits of completing your profile, read "What is ORCID?"

And then, read Six Things to Do Now that You've Got an ORCID, to help you make the most of your ORCID.

Question of the month: What's Your ORCID?

Bonus question #1: Have you been asked for it?

- Yes
- No
- What do you mean?

Bonus question #2: If yes, what for? (include all that apply)

- Publishers/manuscript submissions
- Professional society
- Collaborators
- Funders/proposals
- Other _____

Bonus question #3: Have you filled out your ORCID profile?

- Yes, it's complete, current as of today
- Kind of, I started but could use some help to complete it.
- No, I could use some help.
- No, and I have no intention of doing so (why not?)

All respondents receive a gift through plant mail (additional prizes for bonus questions; another bonus prize the first time you include your ORCID). Reply to this email (please include your MSIN) or email Barbara Wetzel.
